

WILL PRESS SUIT FOR BETTER RATES

North Carolina Corporation to File Complaint Against Norfolk and Western.

HOLDS KEY TO SITUATION

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RALEIGH, N. C., October 28.—Chairman Franklin McNeill, of the Corporation Commission, stated this morning that the commission will within the next few days hold a conference with their attorneys for the Interstate Commerce Commission against the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company, with a view to eliminating discrimination in freight rates from Cincinnati and other points west to Winston-Salem and Durham, as compared with rates this company gives Lynchburg, Roanoke and points in Virginia. In this move the commission believes it has the key to the whole situation as to long haul discriminations against North Carolina points, as it is the Norfolk and Western which, with its direct line, really fixes the Virginia rates that compel the Southern and Atlantic Coast Line to make competing rates on their long circuits that pass through this State, so the rates are lower for Virginia terminals than for points at which the same freight can be stopped in North Carolina.

To Investigate Complaints.
Corporation Commissioner S. L. Rogers went to Goldsboro today to investigate complaints that have been filed as to the lack of facilities for eyeing there in the transfer of express from the Norfolk and Southern to the Southern Railway.

The negro, Cleve Holladay, who dropped the revolver Saturday evening as he jumped from the street car in the City Hall and came so near shooting bystanders, was arraigned in Police Court this morning and fined $30 and costs. He paid the fine and was released. It will be remembered that the revolver fired when it struck the pavement and the bullet smashed a front glass in the car and went through the hat brim and sweatband of Cyrus Thompson's hat, causing a big knot on his head.

Charters Granted.
A charter has been issued for the Model Mill Company, of Altapass, Guilford county, capital, $50,000, by A. Bauhard, J. B. Jackson and W. H. Small, for operation of flouring mills; another charter for the McDiffie Instrument Company, of Oxford; capital, $25,000, by John McDiffie, Fayetteville; H. M. Shaw and others.

SURPRISE THEIR FRIENDS.
Wedding of Engineer Smith and Miss England Not Expected.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] SPENCER, N. C., October 28.—Miss Daisie England and Engineer E. L. Smith, two of Spencer's popular young people, surprised their many friends here last night by getting married.

and of course it looks different to us, I suppose, but I know when I was a child things were different. The dresses are so light and flimsy; the boys don't wear rubbers; they don't seem to care, and the parents it seems to me are not as particular about the health of the little ones. Of course I know that Croup and Colds and Pneumonia don't stand the show they used to stand before Gowan's Pneumonia Cure came on the market, but parents should be more careful. By the way, that Gowan's Pneumonia Cure is a marvel. John had croup the other night and we just rubbed him once good and hard with Gowan's and he was as bright as a dollar next day—and they tell me that for Appendicitis it scatters the congestion and saves an operation. It is wonderful what it will do. My husband is always asking if I am sure there is plenty of it on hand. He just wouldn't be without it. It costs fifty cents and a dollar, we get the big bottle because we know it is money well invested. All send love.

Sincerely,
MARTHA.

RICHMOND GIVES A. & M. HARD FIGHT

Heavier Carolinians Were Able to Score but Once in Each Half.

RALEIGH, N. C., October 28.—Richmond College lost to A. & M. of North Carolina, on the college athletic grounds here this afternoon by a score of 11 to 6. However, the odds in the score are largely accounted for by the fact that the A. & M. team averages about fifteen pounds heavier than the Richmond College. A. & M. had boasted that they would make the score 10 to 0. They scored in the first half within eight minutes after the game started, and after that the ball passed from side to side pretty evenly. For the second half A. & M. kicked off, Richmond bringing the ball back to center-field from the twenty-five yard line. Failing in an on-side kick, A. & M. secured it and managed to scramble over the line and make a touchdown.

Then A. & M. kicked off to Richmond, by whom it was returned to midfield and lost to A. & M., who rushed it to the twenty-yard line, where a fumble gave it to Smith, of Richmond. He made a fine eighty-yard run before he was tackled, and lost the ball to A. & M. A. & M. kicked off, and Richmond made a short plunge through the center. The line thrives went around right tackle for a forty-yard run. Time was called and the game closed. The line-up: Richmond. Positions. The line-up: Saunders, left end; McKinnon (Sleepor), left guard; Tull Jones, left tackle; Sykes Stringfellow, center; Thompson Jones, right guard; Von Glean Robertson, right tackle; Beebe Tillman, right end; Sadler Smith, quarterback; Stevens Lankford, left half; Johnson Louthan, right half; Johnson Waite, full back; Thompson

Excessive Drinking

Excessive or continued use of alcoholic beverages always results in a diseased condition of the nervous system. The drinking man is often heard to say, "I can stop on my own free will and when I wish," but the poor fellow is now devoid of the power to act at the proper time in the right way—it's too late, the craving has secured a firm hold and because of the diseased nervous system he has not the ability for sustained effort. The result we all know.

Drunkennes is no longer considered a crime; eminent scientists and physicians have agreed that it is a disease and must be treated as such. The home treatment that has been used for a number of years, and is highly successful, is Orrine. It is sold under a positive guarantee that if it does not effect a cure your money will be refunded. Orrine is in two forms. When dealing to give secretly, purchase Orrine No. 1, and if the patient will voluntarily take the treatment, Orrine No. 2, should be given. The guarantee is the same in either case. Orrine costs but $1.00 per box. Mailed in plain sealed wrapper on receipt of price. Write for free literature to "Dr. Orrine," and in sealed envelope by The Orrine Co., Washington, D. C. Sold by leading druggists everywhere, or by Post Office Miller Drug Company, 834 E. MADE RAPID RUN ON NEW RAILWAY

Cars Operated Over Richmond and Chesapeake Bay Road to Ashland Yesterday.

THE LINE ALREADY POPULAR

Cars were operated over the Richmond and Chesapeake Bay Railway yesterday on regular schedule, the road being opened to the public at 8 A. M., and receiving constant patronage throughout the day. At 8:10 A. M. the first train left the station at Laurel and Broad Streets, a considerable load of workmen on houses in Clinter Park and other early risers making the trip. Arriving at Ashland at 8:50 o'clock, after a run of forty minutes, with a number of stops, the cars were met by a large crowd of people, who cheered the new line, and who thereafter, and throughout the day, patronized it.

From 7 A. M. on, each car leaving Ashland was well filled with commuters, many of whom had purchased mileage books at reduced rates with a view to traveling regularly over the line. The distance by the new line is somewhat shorter than by the steam road, measuring fourteen and eight-tenths miles, and notwithstanding the fact that there are seventeen signal stops where passengers may get off, or signal for a car to halt for them, the run to Ashland is made in forty minutes. Four sidings are provided for passing of cars. But two cars were in operation yesterday, but their high speed enabled them to maintain the schedule with ease. Each siding is equipped with a telephone, from which the carmen may report to the dispatcher the progress of their cars, and also call attention to any defect or breakdown.

Every Convenience Provided.

In the Laurel Street Station one finds every convenience usual to a railroad terminal, except that no provision has as yet been made for heating the building. Beside the ticket office is hanging the printed schedule of fares as required by law for all railroad lines, and the station has equipment for handling baggage, as well as all necessary arrangements for the convenience of passengers. The tariff schedule is figured at 2 cents a mile, except where mileage or commutation tickets are sold.

Leaving Richmond the line runs north over the big reinforced concrete trestle, which is regarded among railroad men almost in the light of one of the innovations in the construction of an innovation is it in railroad construction. Proceeding northwest up the center of what was formerly the Brook Turnpike the cars were run at high speed, merely whistling for the crossings, and making the first stop at Westwood Avenue, at the main entrance to the Theological Seminary, just six minutes after leaving Broad Street.

Proceeding on up the Brook Road, the line turns east to run over a long grade through the meadow in front of the Westbrook place, and so down through the woods to the Lakeside gate, where a second stop is made, fifteen minutes from Broad Street. As against forty-five minutes by the winding, tortuous course of the old Lakeside line. Four minutes later the car stopped at Yellow Tavern, where the roads fork, and near the spot where General Stuart was wounded. From here the run to Ashland is through a level, sandy country, and covered at high speed. One could not help being struck with the fine opportunity afforded by the new line for traveling with the means of quick and cheap transportation to market right at hand.

At Ashland the opening of the new line was the excitement of the day. The station here, visited by nearly all the people of the town, many of whom came over to Richmond for the ride, notwithstanding the rainy day. Having a frequent rapid service from Ashland to Richmond cannot fail to build up that place into a large residence suburb.

SPEECH BY JUDGE MANN

Says Defect of Democratic Ticket Would Hurt Temperance Cause.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] STAINTON, VA., October 28.—Judge William Hodges Mann, of Nottoway, former candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, spoke here today in behalf of the Democratic legislative ticket in opposition to the independent temperance ticket. He took the stand that it would hurt the temperance cause to defeat the Democratic candidates.

Judge Mann briefly recounted what the Democratic party has done for Virginia since the Civil War, bringing the State from poverty to prosperity and a commanding position. He spoke of the progress of temperance legislation enacted by the Democratic party, beginning with the local option law in 1855. Every temperance measure enacted in Virginia has been by the Democratic party, and he promised further temperance legislation at the next session of the Legislature. He promised a statute to define the qualifications of the voters in local option elections; to make clubs pay regular license, and measures fixing adequate penalties for willful violation of temperance laws. In this connection he expressed the conviction that the man who violates the law in order to make money should go to jail.

Judge Mann spoke highly of the Democratic candidates for the Legislature, and said it would be a grievous mistake to split the Democratic party over this question, the local candidates being pledged to support temperance measures.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] PAMPLIN CITY, VA., October 28.—A series of meetings, which began at the Methodist Church of this place on the 20th instant, closed last night resulting in over twenty conversions besides some who were reclaimed. Rev. A. L. Curren, the pastor, was assisted in these services by the Rev. George H. Wiley, superintendent of the Ex-Prisoners' Aid Society of Richmond, who preached twice a day up to Saturday, inclusive, and three times yesterday. This meeting was well attended, especially at night. The merchants here closed their stores in the day to attend the services. Mr. Wiley held an effective service at the railroad station here this morning just before 7 o'clock, which, including the sermon and prayer, only lasted about twelve minutes. He will in a week or so go to Elm Street Church, Nashville, Tenn., to aid the pastor of the same in a series of meetings.
